EDITORS' FOREWORD

EASILY the outstanding movement of the 1939-1940 school year, now so pleasantly concluded, has been the student-born campaign for the completion of the new commons building planned and partially built in 1936. The history of the campaign provides the material for the feature article of this issue of the MILESTONE. The incidents of that history are faithfully recorded; the editors wish it were possible to include in this permanent record the motivating spirit and the relentless enthusiasm behind those incidents.

The Second Building Campaign

By David Harris Solomon

The great importance of the second campaign in the past four years rests not only on the actual need of the remaining two wings of the building but even more on the fact that the impetus for the campaign was supplied by the student body, acting of its own accord and working from within.

Early in November six boys, all of whom had attended Governor Dummer in previous years and had seen the need of completing the commons building, met informally and discussed at length the possibility of initiating a drive for the necessary funds. They realized that, if the school's rapid growth of the last decade was to be continued, the additional facilities must be provided. They then consulted with Mr. Murphy of the faculty regarding the details of setting the campaign in motion.

Satisfied that success was a definite possibility, and willing to contribute the necessary time and energy, the group launched a whispering inquiry to determine if the school would be unanimously behind the campaign. So encouraging were the results of their inquiry that a school meeting was called for November 22 to present the idea formally, if suddenly, to Mr. Eames and the faculty. The school's enthusiastic support was so obviously assured at that meeting that positive action on the part of the Headmaster was not long deferred. During the Thanksgiving recess he secured an initial pledge of $30,000, thereby nearly assuring success in the next part of the task, namely to secure the approval of the Board of Trustees.

Directly after the Thanksgiving recess the boys began preparations for presenting their plan to the trustees. The original group who had initiated the campaign included John Newman, John Eshelman, David Goodhart, Robert Lyle, Edwin Sheffield, and Philip Simpson. Formally organized, with John Newman as chairman, this executive committee decided to form a larger general committee which would include a cross section of the entire student body.

Dana Babcock, Thomas Collins, James Dodge, John Dyer, Locke Ellis, Francis Farnum, Eugene Gardner, John Hastings, Karl Klaussen, James Melick, Paul Morgan, Donald Mortimer, Theodore Munro, Robert Nutter, Robert Schumann, David Solomon, William Torrey, Arthur Wellman, and Sanford Young were the new members added to the general committee, which met occasionally, talked over problems in connection with the boys' solicitation of gifts, and made a number of suggestions to the executive committee and to the Headmaster.

Before the Trustees' meeting on December 13, Chairman John Newman and the executive committee met with the trustees informally and presented their ideas for approval. During the formal meeting of the Board the boys waited anxiously; but at nine-thirty that rainy evening the bell in the little red schoolhouse rang out the news that official approval had been granted.

The last two days of the fall term were frantic ones for the committee, with blanks to be distributed and innumerable instructions to be given to the volunteer solicitors. Campaign literature was distributed and arrangements made for reporting progress. It was decided that contributions were to be solicited from friends of the school and from relatives and friends of the boys, but that the parents of the boys were not to be asked to contribute at that time.

Formal launching of the campaign occurred at the Christmas dinner on December 14, where John Newman of the Boys' Committee and Mr. David Wheatland of the Board of Trustees explained the nature and the purpose of the campaign to the many friends of the school gathered for the occasion.

After two weeks of the Christmas holidays John Newman and Edwin Sheffield were able to report from the cards sent in by the members of the student body that $1,018 had been pledged by friends, other than the parents. Meanwhile Mr. Eames and the members of the committee had been busy approaching other possible donors beyond the sphere of student acquaintances. When receipts were tabulated after the holiday, it was found that nearly $4,000 had been added from that source; and soon after vacation another $1,250 was added to the $30,000 foundation block when student pledges were received. These gifts represented for the most part personal earnings or savings.

Added to those items, an accumulation of $15,000 from other sources made it possible for the Headmaster to announce at the end of January that a total of $50,000 had been pledged or contributed toward the required $80,000. Shortly the figure had risen to $55,000, and after a second Trustees' meeting in April Mr. Eames was able to announce a total of $69,000. By May the figure had risen to $72,000.

As this publication goes to press, no further announcement has been made; but there is general confidence on the part of the committee that the remaining $8,000 will be raised and that completion of the building will crown the efforts of the many devoted students and friends who have worked at the task and contributed to the fund.

As a result of their efforts Governor Dummer Academy will have, in the two new wings of the building, a spacious living and meeting room, public reception rooms, and space for many activities now carried on in crowded or inadequate quarters. The completed building will greatly improve the appearance of the campus and will be a beautiful and permanent monument to the loyalty and enthusiasm of the students and friends who have initiated and completed the two campaigns.

Alumni and friends of the school will be pleased to learn that it has been decided to dedicate three of the principal rooms of the New Building to the memory of three men closely connected with the recent development of the Academy,—Mr. William Beale Jacob, the Reverend Carroll Perry, and Mr. Philip Hacker Cobb.

Mr. Jacob was one of Mr. Eames' early associates at Governor Dummer, and as Assistant Headmaster devoted his best efforts to the establishment of sound scholarship here. The Reverend Carroll Perry was for some years a Trustee of the Academy, and many will remember hearing him preach here or at his church in Ipswich. His kindliness and his humor endeared him to many more who heard him preside at the Commencement Dinner.

It is especially appropriate that the name of Mr. Cobb should always be connected with this building, since the boys drew heavily on his enthusiasm and advice to organize the original campaign.

The Football Season

Mr. Arthur W. Sager
Coach

The 1939 football team was coached by Mr. Arthur Sager, who for nine years previously had been line coach. Under him and his assistants, Mr. Wickenden and Mr. Jennings, the team enjoyed a very successful season, winning four games and losing three. Captain Robert Nutter was notable for the fine spirit and leadership he contributed.

In the opening game, with the Bowdoin Junior Varsity at home, the Governors were defeated, 6-0. The visitors returned the opening kickoff for a touchdown; but thereafter the Governors were able to turn back all attacks. The following week a vastly improved team scored a victory over an outclassed Andover Second team on Morse Field. For the first time the Governors showed real scoring power, marching sixty yards in the first six plays for their first score on a pass from Hutchinson to Ted Munro. Before the afternoon was over, Hutchinson, Jellison, Munro, and tackle Jack Griffith had added a touchdown each to account for the Governors' thirty-one points.

On October 21 the Governors defeated a very strong Kimball Union team by the narrow margin of a safety. The game was a seesaw affair which was decided half way through the first period. After Al Hutchinson had placed his second consecutive kick on Kimball Union's four-yard marker, Griffith smashed through and blocked the attempted punt in the end zone. The ball came to rest behind the goal posts to give the Governors a two-point lead which the Governors successfully defended for the rest of the game. In their fourth game the Governors were defeated, 12-6, by a fighting Thayer eleven. King Dowse scored the lone tally on a pass from Al Hutchinson.

The following week the team journeyed to Providence, where it soundly defeated a weak Moses Brown team, 31-0. Every member of the squad played in the game, the Governors' first victory over Moses Brown in four years. The passing, kicking, and running of Al Hutchinson, and the powerful line-bucking of Ed Mulcahy were outstanding features of the game. On November 11 the Governors easily downed Tabor Academy at South Byfield, 12-0. Lee Whittles scored midway through the first period on a brilliant fifty-yard run-back of a punt. In the second half the Red and White drove sixty yards down the field after Don Mortimer's very pretty catch of Whittles' pass. Randy Morris bucked across from the fourteen-yard line for the score.

In their final game at Deerfield the Governors, although greatly outweighed, fought their traditional rivals almost to a standstill in a gruelling game from which they emerged on the short end of a seven-to-six score. Ted Munro intercepted a

N B

Green and White pass in the first period on his own twenty-yard line and raced to the Deerfield thirteen behind a wall of blockers. Ed Mulcahy drove off tackle and smashed into the end zone standing up on the next play. Unfortunately the try for the extra point was foiled; and it was not long before Deerfield roared back to the Governors' five-yard line with an end run, two line bucks, and a long pass. The line held for downs at that point, and Hutchinson punted out sensationally to mid-field. From then on, however, the Deerfield power was too great for the courageous Governors; and their next march was not halted until Pescosolido had crossed the goal line on an end run. The conversion put Deerfield in the lead as the first half ended.

A. Roland Will Managers

After a seesaw third period the tired Governors' line began to give ground and was unable to hold the heavier Deerfield line. Deerfield controlled the play throughout the fourth period but was unable to score. Individual stars were numerous for the Governors. Ed Mulcahy bucked the line hard and was strong on the defense. Munro provided excellent field generalship beside setting up the Governors' score. The line was strong from end to end until Deerfield's weight and reserves wore them down.

At the annual Christmas dinner when he awarded the team letters, Mr. Sager said that one of the most outstanding features of the season was the fact that no injury serious enough to keep a player from a starting position had occurred during the entire season. The election of Lee Kincaid Whittles as 1940 captain was also announced at the Christmas Dinner.

The Soccer Season

Mr. Howard J. Navins
Coach

In its fourth year at Governor Dummer soccer has taken its place beside the other major sports. The squad which reported to Mr. Navins and Mr. Stone was enthusiastic but relatively green. Mr. Stone worked with the backfield, and Mr. Navins trained the attack and was responsible for the development of a fast, accurate-passing team. Early in the season the squad elected Robert Lyle to lead it through its first major-sport schedule.

After two weeks of intensive practice the team opened against the Harvard freshman team at Cambridge on October 7. Undaunted by the strong opposition, the Governors tallied first when McDowell's accurate pass was driven past the Harvard goalie by Babcock early in the second period. The Harvardians retaliated to tie the score and then eked out a victory with another tally in the final period. At M.I.T. on the following Saturday the Governors completely outclassed the freshmen but managed to score only once.

At Kimball Union on October 21 the Governors repulsed their annual rivals, 2-1. The entire team functioned smoothly, with the combination play of the forward line showing up particularly well. The tight defensive work of Captain Lyle's backfield again and again dispelled the opponents' fast-breaking attack.

In their first home game the Governors met the powerful, undefeated Phillips Exeter team on November 1. The Exonians, held scoreless for two periods, tallied on Palmer's shot midway through the third period and then turned back the Governors' scoring thrusts for the remainder of the game.

The Governors tied two of their next three games and won one to give themselves a record of four victories, two defeats, and two ties as they entered the final game at Deerfield on November 17. Finding themselves on the small end of a two-to-nothing score at the end of the first half, the Governors tore determinedly into the third period and shortly tied the score. During the final quarter and the first of two furious overtime periods neither team was able to score; but in the second overtime Deerfield finally scored the all-important goal to win, 3-2.

The Hockey Season

Mr. J. Chandler Hill
Coach

Led by Captain Ted Munro and coached by Mr. Hill and Mr. Murphy, the hockey team enjoyed a very successful season. Six lettermen of last year returned, and their experience proved invaluable. The first line, composed of Captain Munro, Bob Lyle, and Andy Bailey, accounted for twenty-two of the forty goals scored by the team, a total greater than that of the two preceding seasons combined. Two other almost equally powerful lines accounted for the other points. One was the so-called "kid" line of last year, Harry Davy, Dick Wyman, and Dana Babcock. The third line was composed of Tom Collins, Willard Little, and Leonard Zins. On the defense Ed Sheffield, Alex Murchie, and Sandy Young were the outstanding men; and Dave Goodhart and Kim Eastman alternated in the cage.

The team opened its season on the Exeter rink with an easy victory over the Phillips Exeter Junior Varsity, Bailey scoring two fine goals on assists from Young and Munro. In the second game the Governors lost a close decision to the Malden Catholic High School, Harry Davy making the Governors' lone tally. In the well-deserved victory over Roxbury Latin the Governors were in constant control of the play. Dave Goodhart stopped many hard Roxbury drives.

In a home game against the Phillips Academy Junior Varsity of Andover, Dave Goodhart almost had a shutout, but Andover finally scored from a mix-up in front of the cage. In their next game the Governors were unable to cope with the speedy Belmont forwards, although they fought all the way.

On the day after the Belmont game the Governors met a powerful Deerfield team and seemed to have the game won until, with less than a minute to play, Deerfield scored what proved to be the deciding point.

After a few days of welcome rest, the Governors easily defeated the Amesbury Americans. The first line scored all but one of the goals. Bailey sank four and Munro three; Bob Lyle was credited with many assists. In the final game the team proved to be a bit too strong for the old grads, despite the inspired play of former Captain Art Ross in the nets during the last two periods. Included among the alumni stars were Joe Langmaid, Dick Sprague, Phelps Holloway, Phil Lees, Tom Lafey, Ted Lacey, Lennie Poor, Dick Page, and Frank Collins.

The Basketball Season

Mr. Howard J. Navins
Coach

In the 1940 basketball season the Governors broke exactly even, winning six and losing six. Considering the caliber of the teams on the schedule, Mr. Navins' charges may well be congratulated.

The Governors opened the season by eking out a 26-24 victory at Milton Academy, Captain Don Mortimer and Bob Nutter, the only veterans of last year's starting team, played a wonderful game, both on the offense and on the defense. King Dowse, David Gearhart, David Jarvis, and John Mortimer were the more promising newcomers. The 25-22 victory over Kimball Union the following week was a seesaw affair in which neither team ever had more than a three-point lead and in which suspense was high until the final whistle.

The fine work of Captain Mortimer featured the Governors 26-24 victory over Andover on January 24. At Deerfield on the following Saturday the Governors met a powerful, well-drilled team who took the lead in the opening seconds of the game and kept in until the end. After losing the next game to Huntington, the Governors triumphed in the annual alumni game, 26-16. The alumni, paced by such stars as Fred Zins, John Carver, Russ Simons, Mike Lawler, Francis Donoghue, and John Koslowski, and cheered by many other recent graduates, assumed an early lead and held it through the first half. In the third period the undergradnates' superior condition began to tell; and despite alumni coach Sager's strategy of sending in complete new teams at short intervals, the alumni soon dropped hopelessly behind.

On February 10, the spectators saw one of the best exhibitions of the seasons. In defeating the M.I.T. freshmen, 40-21, the Governors worked their plays to perfection. Jarvis led the scoring with twelve points. Strong opposition and bad luck caused the Governors to drop their next three games to Phillips Exeter, Babson, and the Harvard freshmen. At Harvard the Governors put up a magnificent struggle and were in the lead at half-time but could not maintain the pace.

As usual, the Salem teachers provided a good final game. Not as strong as in some recent seasons, they nevertheless kept the Governors going at top speed.

The Wrestling Season

The struggles of the Academy wrestlers were not confined solely to the mat this year. The few returning veterans found it necessary to work overtime to keep their sport from total extinction. However, with the help of Mr. Kirk and Mr. Jennings, their new head coach, the enthusiasts succeeded not only in keeping their sport on the schedule but also in obtaining for themselves a large, airy, well-ventilated practice room in one of the buildings on the new campus.

Mr. Daniel O. S. Jennings
Coach

From the first work-out on January 10 until the final meet with the Technology freshmen the wrestlers showed their gratitude by incessant hard work and persistent struggle. The veterans, Captain Edward Mulcahy, Harold Knapp, and Norton Cushman, together with Lester Ackerman, provided the backbone of the team.

After practice meets with Haverhill, Andover, and the Harvard freshmen, in the latter of which Captain Mulcahy suffered his only defeat, the team went officially into action against the veteran Roxbury Latin team. Mulcahy and Cushman capitalized on their experience to gain falls over their opponents, and Hamilton Bates displayed his customary courage by gaining a decision over his. Dick Barrows contributed a draw in the unlimited class to complete the Governors' courageous but vain effort.

The outstanding meet of the year was the final one, in which the Governors defeated the powerful M.I.T. freshman team, and clearly demonstrated the spirit and determination which characterized their efforts throughout the season. Les Ackerman showed a thorough knowledge of the intricacies of the sport and brought his first season to a successful climax by gaining a spectacular fall. Edward Mulcahy, Norton Cushman, Harold Knapp, and Dick Barrows all contributed victories to the score. Alumnus Hugh Byfield, wrestling for the freshman, showed the value of his training at Governor Dummer by expertly pinning Hamilton Bates.

Edward B. Mulcahy
Captain

From every standpoint the year proved to be a highly gratifying one. The attendance at the meets almost equalled that at major sport games and demonstrated the importance and the popularity of wrestling.

The Winter Track Season

Under the able coaching of Mr. Richard S. Wickenden, the winter track squad prepared for its schedule on the dirt roads in the vicinity of the Academy. The Noyes barn on the new campus was used for practice starts and calisthenics. On a number of afternoons the team went to Andover, where the Phillips Academy cage was at their disposal.

Mr. Richard Wickenden
Coach

The opening meet was a dual one with Kimball Union. The Governors' outstanding competitor in this meet was Bruce King, who amassed nine points in the high-jump, hurdles, and six-hundred-yard run. Captain Rutherford took first in the thousand-yard run; Bob Little placed in two others; and Fred Stanger placed in still another. Mr. Wickenden was well pleased with this opening meet, despite the fact that the team lost, for it was only the first meet of the season, and was held with an experienced team.

In the Boston Garden, a few weeks later, running against stiff competition in the Eastern Seaboard Relays, the two-lap relay team put on an amazing spurt at the finish but was unable to overcome the lead held by the experienced Tabor Team.

The team as a whole was not very successful in the Harvard Private School Meet on the Massachusetts Institute of Technology track. Five men competed in this meet, but Captain Rutherford was the only successful entry, coming in fifth in the thousand-yard run.

A victory in the dual meet with the Browne and Nichols School at Cambridge provided a fitting climax to a successful season. Rutherford took first place in the thousand-yard run; Mulcahy won the twelve-pound shot put; the running high-jump was won by King, and the three-hundred-yard run by Stanger. Bruce King and Jellison placed in the forty-five-yard low hurdles; and King in the six-hundred yard run. Hutchinson placed in the forty-yard dash, Little in the thousand-yard run, and Rutherford in the three-hundred-yard run.

Adrian H. K. Rutherford
Captain

The winter track team, since it is so dependent on good weather for the opportunity to practice, operates under a handicap and is to be judged not only by the points earned but also by its contribution to the spring season. This year several very promising competitors have been prepared for spring meets.

The Lacrosse Season

Mr. A. Macdonald Murphy
Coach

With a veteran team returning, and with the largest squad ever to report for the sport at Governor Dummer, the lacrosse team, coached by Mr. A. Macdonald Murphy, seems to be headed toward its most successful season since the sport was inaugurated at the Academy four years ago.

Immediately following the election of Ed Sheffield, second defense on the All-New-England Scholastic team of 1939, as captain, the team took the field against an inexperienced Deering High School team from Portland and won handily, 17-3. Almost the entire squad saw action as the Governors' stickmen, led by Captain Sheffield, Bob Lyle, and John Eshelman, held the upper hand throughout the game. The Governors' attack scored almost at will, while the defense held the Deering scoring to a minimum.

On April 27 the team held the experienced Boston Lacrosse Club team surprisingly well, but three early goals by the visitors gave them the margin of victory, 9-6. After the first quarter the game was played on even terms. Outstanding on the offense were Captain Sheffield and Bob Lyle, who scored three of the Governors' goals. Hamilton Bates did a fine job of leading the defense.

In the game with Phillips Academy at Andover the Governors lacked the spirit and the fight which had been so apparent against the Boston Lacrosse Club, while Andover capitalized on every chance to score a 10-2 victory. Dave Goodhart made a number of fine stops in the goal.

Against the Harvard freshmen the Red and White team played their best game to date. Paced by Bob Will with five goals, John Eshelman with four, Ed Sheffield with three, and Bob Lyle with two, the Governors held the upper hand throughout the game.

After winning from the M.I.T. freshmen and the Governor Dummer alumni, the Governors really distinguished themselves by beating the New Hampshire freshmen, 6-3. The visitors assumed a 3-0 lead in the first quarter; but Captain Sheffield rallied his team in the second to lead 4-3 at the half. Bob Lyle scored all six goals for the Governors. David Goodhart in the goal held the visitors scoreless after the first period.

The Baseball Season

Mr. Edward W. Eames
Coach

Only three regulars of last year's team returned for this season. Don Mortimer and Ted Munro played first and second base, respectively, last year and are in the same positions this year. Also returning was Bob Nutter, last year at third base, now pitching and playing in the outfield. Among the other boys who played some games last season are Dick Wyman, Joe Brady, Dana Babcock, Gordon Johndroe, and Sandy Young. Among the new members of the squad the most promising are Ed Riley, recently elected captain, Dave Jarvis, Stan Whiting, Lee Whittles, Willard Little, and Andy Bailey. As has been usual in the past few years, the team has been handicapped by bad weather, having had only four or five days of favorable weather. As a result the team has been a little behind in training, especially the pitching staff. Moreover three games have been cancelled or postponed as a result of the bad weather.

The first game was with Milton Academy at Milton. The game marked the first time this season that the team had played on a regulation diamond. The Governors amassed ten hits and three runs. Our pitchers were wild, however, and the many walks given were the main cause of the twenty-three runs gained by Milton. Despite this overwhelming score, the most serious defeat the Governors have experienced in recent years, the team performed very well, especially in the infield. The play of Ted Munro at second was inspired, as his eight assists indicate.

In the second game of the season the Governors lost a well-fought game to Middlesex. Captain Riley went the route, exhibiting excellent control and striking out eight and walking only two. He also got two hits and scored one of our two runs after hitting a triple. The catching was of a very high quality. Stan Whiting had been shifted from third only a few days before. He performed like a veteran, calling the pitches as if he had been receiving for years.

After losing to Thayer and to Belmont Hill, the Governors scored their first victory in a very close game with Kimball Union Academy on Alumni Day. Dave Jarvis' clean single in the last of the ninth with two out and the bases loaded provided a story-book finish.

The Track Season

Mr. Arthur W. Sager
Coach

Having lost most of last year's team by graduation, Mr. Sager was forced to rely principally on new material to build a track team for 1940. Fortunately the winter track squad had discovered and developed some promising candidates, but many of the competitors who reported for track practice in the spring had been busy with other sports during the winter track season and so were still unknown quantities.

Very bad running conditions prevailed on the day set for the Deerfield meet, and the team had no opportunity to compete until May 8, when practically the entire squad went to Exeter for the Phillips Exeter meet. Captain Alfred Hutchinson accounted for three first places, winning both the dashes and also placing first in the javelin-throw. Edward Mulcahy, a veteran of last year's team, likewise scored three firsts, the four-forty, the broad jump, and the shot-put. His twenty feet, five and one-half inches set a new school record in the broad jump.

Despite the excellent work of Hutchinson and Mulcahy, the team failed to score more than fifty-four points while the Phillips Exeter team was amassing sixty-three.

The second meet of the season was with Kimball Union Academy and proved to be one of the most exciting ever held on Morse Field. The many alumni present saw the lead shift back and forth with almost every event: and it needed Captain Hutchinson's first and Bob Little's third in the javelin, the final event of the day, to give the Governors a tie at 58½.

Captain Hutchinson also won the broad jump and the 220-yard dash to lead in the scoring. Other first-place winners for the Governors were Mulcahy in the shot-put and discus, Rutherford, who ran a beautiful 880, and Bruce King, who not only won the high hurdles but also tied for first place in the high jump.

Since the number of competitors in track is smaller this year, a heavier burden is placed on a few outstanding men. Captain Hutchinson, Mulcahy, King, and Rutherford deserve especial commendation for their willingness to compete in events for which they have not previously trained.

The Tennis Season

Mr. Benjamin J. Stone
Coach

Very few veterans reported for tennis this spring; but Deane Hoyt, Leonard Zins, and Kenneth Stein, three former high-school captains, added greatly to the available material. Before the first match was played it was apparent that those three would be the backbone of the team, and Deane Hoyt was elected captain for 1940.

The season opened on May 3 at North Andover against the Brooks School team. Captain Hoyt lost his match and so did Cushing Strout, the number four of the team. But Leonard Zins, Kenneth Stein, and James Monroe took their matches to give the Governors a 3-2 lead at the conclusion of the singles matches. It was so late in the afternoon when the last singles was completed that the doubles had to be postponed until the following Monday. Captain Hoyt and Leonard Zins lost their match; and when Kenneth Stein and Cushing Strout followed suit, the match went to the Brooks School team, 4-3.

In the Thayer match at South Braintree Kenneth Stein won his singles match and, paired with Cushing Strout, contributed another point in the doubles to clinch the match for the Governors after Zins had won and Captain Hoyt had lost in the singles, and Zins and Hoyt had dropped their doubles match.

The next match was played at Andover with the Phillips Academy Junior Varsity. The singles matches were even, Captain Deane Hoyt, Leonard Zins, and James Monroe winning theirs while Cushing Strout, Kenneth Stein, and Davenport Bowker lost theirs.

Having never won a match from the Andover team, the Governors were keen to take the odd doubles match and earn the victory. And for a time the situation looked extremely favorable. Captain Hoyt and Leonard Zins took the first set of the first doubles match decisively and looked like easy winners. But their opponents took them to three sets before conceding the victory. Stein and Strout then likewise started strong and took the first set; but unlike Hoyt and Zins, they failed to stop the Andover rally in the second and third sets. With the match all even, Jim Monroe and Davenport Bowker, relatively inexperienced competitors, dropped the final doubles to give Andover the match, 5-4.

The Golf Season

Mr. Thomas McC. Mercer
Coach

Since Harry Davy, Alexander Murchie, and James Dodge were the only veterans of last year's team returning, the prospects for the 1940 golf season were not bright. Throughout the season Mr. Mercer had a difficult task to select the team for each match. Only six can play in a match, and there were nine players with practically the same handicap. Harry Davy and James Dodge were elected co-captains; and they, with Robert Schumann, Alexander Murchie, Dwight Murray, and Arthur Wellman, made up the usual team. However, Barr Smith, Herrick Randall, and Nathaniel Macdonald also played frequently.

In the first match with Malden High School on the Ould Newbury links, Harry Davy and Arthur Wellman were tied in their foursome, but the Governors took the other two foursomes to earn the victory.

A new feature of this year's schedule is a series of triangular matches with Phillips Academy of Andover and Phillips Exeter Academy. One match is to be played on the home course of each team, and cups are to be given for the best individual score and for the best team score. After the first match in the series, at Andover, the Phillips Exeter team led the Governors by 15 points, and the Governors enjoyed a six-point lead over the Andover team.

On May 11 the Governors defeated the Massachusetts Institute of Technology freshmen in the only four-man team match of the season. Schumann and Macdonald defeated their opponents handily, and Davy and Dodge won two points in their match, although Dodge dropped one point by losing his individual match.

On May 15 in the second match in the triangular series with Andover and Exeter, the Governors beat Exeter by six strokes and Andover by a much wider margin. At present Exeter leads the Governors by six points, but Andover is out of the running. Harry Davy turned in an 81 for the match.

The annual match with Ould Newbury resulted in the closest score of recent years, 12-9. Although the Governors were defeated, nearly every match went to the eighteenth green, and considering the nature of the opposition, Mr. Mercer felt that his charges had acquitted themselves creditably.

The Governor Dummer Chapter of the Cum Laude Society received its charter on February 10, 1934. The purpose of the society is to promote scholarship and to recognize scholastic achievement. In secondary schools its function is, therefore, comparable to that of Phi Beta Kappa in colleges.

The by-laws of the society state that to be eligible for election a student must attain a minimum standing of eighty percent during his senior year and must stand in the upper fifth of his class. A three-fourths vote of the faculty members is necessary for election; and the members are pledged to consider each candidate's record in the earlier years of his secondary school work, his diligence, particular aptitudes or deficiencies, and the nature and the number of the courses on which his average is based.

The successful candidates are initiated at the annual banquet of the society during the latter part of May. Alumni members and guests from near-by chapters are present to welcome the new members, and a guest speaker gives an address or reads a paper on some subject of scholarly interest.

This year the annual initiation dinner was held on Friday, May 17. Mr. Stone presided and Mr. James Duncan Phillips read the charge to the new members. Mr. Walter S. Hinchman gave a very enjoyable account of the founding and early development of the medieval schools and universities. Nearly thirty members of the society were present to greet the new members.

The Glee Club

This year's club was made up of fifty-five boys chosen from more than seventy who reported for tryouts. Fortunately many of those selected had been members of former Governor Dummer Glee Clubs, and their experience greatly improved the quality of the club's singing.

After several months of strenuous rehearsal under the proficient direction of Mr. Arthur Sager of the faculty, the club began to show promise of equaling former Governor Dummer clubs, even of surpassing them. The quality of the club was due not only to superior vocal talent but also to the attitude of the members, who proved to be responsive, attentive and compliant. The excellent solo work of Nicholas Lampes and Lawrence Van Doren was an asset to the club.

An additional feature of the club this year was a group of twelve boys chosen for musical talent and known as the Meistersingers. With a repertoire of several lighter numbers they did very commendable work and were greatly appreciated at the concerts where they appeared.

The first concert of the year was given at Sanford, Maine, where the members of the club were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Nutter. After the joint concert with the Walnut Hill Club the boys were guests at a very pleasant dance, a treat which was equally enjoyable later in the season after the joint concert at Stoneleigh. There were also dances at home after the joint concerts with the Waynefleet School of Portland and with the Bancroft School of Worcester.

The high light of the season was the concert given at the Worcester Museum of Fine Art. The impressiveness of the hall, filled with ancient armor and valuable works of art, inspired the club to its best efforts, and numerous patrons asserted that the singing was as fine as that of college glee clubs.

The Archon

The Archon is a school news magazine rather than a school paper. There are many reasons why The Archon in its present form is more suited to Governor Dummer than it would be as a newspaper. First of all, in order to live up to its name, which is Greek for leader, The Archon should stress important events in our school life, rather than try to record everything that has happened in school since the last issue. Such a précis of school life gives a perspective that might not otherwise be obtained. Another reason closely allied with the last is that in a school the size of Governor Dummer there is not enough news of real importance to fill a weekly paper. Furthermore The Archon takes much less of the students' time than a weekly newspaper. Boys have the practice of working on a school publication without taking too much time from their studies. Because of the greater interval between issues, The Archon is a much more finished product than a weekly paper could be. The boys are able to spend more time on their articles; there are a greater number of pictures to choose from; and the articles can be more carefully edited.

In its present form The Archon serves two purposes. It provides a summary of school events; and it also gives the alumni, parents and friends of Governor Dummer a tangible check on school activities. It is not necessary for them to wade through a stream of notes on events which mean little to them unless they know the boys involved; they know that every article in The Archon is of lasting value and that it may be read with understanding and interest. The Archon holds such general interest that Mr. Eames uses it as the school's only catalog.

The Archon is a strong factor in keeping the alumni in contact with each other and with their friends still in Governor Dummer. The "Alumni Notes" column is the most powerful in bringing about this tie; for in this column the activities of the alumni are to be found. Of course, to a certain extent, every article in The Archon tends to renew the ties between the school and its alumni.

Eugene Gardner, David Solomon, and David Goodhart are to be congratulated for the excellent issues of this year; for it was they who bore the brunt of the work. David Goodhart was in charge of all sports items; David Solomon, the associate editor, wrote the "Vespers" column and many other articles; and Eugene Gardner served as editor-in-chief. George Leach also deserves credit for his excellent work as the mainstay of the photographic department. However, these four were by no means the only students who wrote and worked.

The Archon owes a debt to Mr. Curtiss, who in his position as faculty adviser was responsible for its excellent organization. His experience in working on college publications was a great help to those on the Archon Board. Mr. Freiday was another member of the faculty who contributed a great deal to The Archon. His many enlightening articles on historical characters connected with Governor Dummer Academy have created a precedent to be followed in future years.

The Science Show

"How a Simple Camera Works" was the title and the keynote of the sixth Governor Dummer Science Show, presented in the Lang Gymnasium on March 2, 1940 by the students of the science classes directed by Mr. Leander Kirk and Mr. Cuyler Hawkes of the faculty. The emphasis of the talks and the demonstrations was on the elementary phases of photography. The whole show was informative and easily understood; and it was well received at school and, a week later, by the Harvard Teachers' Association.

The students who constructed most of the apparatus and demonstrated the experiments were Hamilton Bates, James Dodge, Francis Farnum, Kurt Hoffman, Robert Schumann, David Solomon, and Roland Will.

The subject matter of the show was arranged chronologically, tracing the evolutionary development of photography from the physical principles on which it was founded to the complications of modern photographic practice. Mr. Kirk, in his capacity as master of ceremonies, opened the program and commented between the different sections of the show. Lantern slides, including certain famous Kodachrome masterpieces supplied by the Eastman Kodak Company, punctuated the discussion of the optical principles behind the camera and served to clarify the explanations.

The early history of photography was outlined by David Solomon. This discussion preceded a demonstration of the first device for recording optical images, the camera obscura, by Francis Farnum and Robert Schumann. By a clever adaptation of the principle of that famous device, the whole interior of the gymnasium was made to serve as the interior of the camera. The object to be photographed, usually, of course, outside the camera, was in this case the interior of a light-tight, half-scale model of the Little Red School House which stood beside the demonstration platform. Concealed from the spectators by the light-tight construction of the model, powerful lights illuminated the interior of the school house. Through a small hole in the wall the light reflected from the interior was directed to the wall of the gymnasium, where it formed an image, upside down and reversed, of the whole interior of the school house and of a student moving about within.

Later, after an illustrated talk by James Dodge on the functions of lenses and the application of small convex lenses to the camera obscura to increase the amount of light while retaining sharp definition of the image, the same experiment was repeated to show how by the use of lenses the image could be rectified — that is, made to appear right side up. A mechanical model constructed by science classes at Phillips Exeter and two unusually large prisms designed by Mr. Kirk made possible a very clear demonstration of the bending of light rays to a focal point.

The later developments in photographic materials and procedure were related by Mr. Kirk, with slides illustrating his account. Mr. Hawkes reviewed one phase of this later history, i.e., the pinhole camera, by relating the four-week program of photography the science classes had just completed, during which each student had assembled a pinhole camera and exposed, developed, and printed at least one picture each week.

The Library Council

The Library Council, organized during the spring of 1939, is a group of boys, one from each dormitory and two chosen from the day boys. The Council was organized for two purposes, — to secure the co-operation of more people in the prompt return of books to the shelves, and to afford the members an opportunity to learn much about library work.

Under the previous system, Mr. and Mrs. Kirk acted as librarians with a student assistant. Books could be borrowed for an unlimited period, — an unsatisfactory method because it made circulation very slow. It was not possible for such a small staff to take the time necessary to trace each book and to see that it was returned as soon as a boy was through with it. At the end of each term all books were called in, and it was found that many were missing, usually having been misplaced by boys who neglected to return them as soon as they had finished reading them.

Under the new system there is a time limit of two weeks on all books with the exception of those needed in the various classes. If a library book is not returned within the two-week limit, a member of the Council traces it and secures its return to the library. A book may be kept for an additional period of two weeks by permission of a member of the Council or of Mrs. Kirk. With this system, the rate of circulation is increased; and everyone has a chance to read all the books that he wishes.

In return for their efforts the members of the Council are offered many opportunities to learn library methods which are universally used and which will be of value to them during their college work. From time to time members of the faculty and outside speakers give informal talks to the Council on topics connected with books and libraries. Notable this year was Mr. Freiday's talk on early books and manuscripts. He showed the Council a number from his own collection and others which he had borrowed from the Bowdoin library for the purpose. He also distributed a list of fifty books which he considered an essential part of any library.

On the whole, the Library Council has developed a real interest in the library and its books on the part of all the boys in school. Suggestions for new books to be added to the collection are solicited from the boys, and gifts as well as suggestions are very much appreciated by Mrs. Kirk and the Council. The result is that the library more accurately reflects student interests and needs and consequently plays a larger part in school life since the organization of the Council.

176th Commencement

It is necessary every year to print in the MILESTONE an account of the graduating exercises of the preceding year, since the yearbook is printed and distributed in advance of the current commencement.

The commencement of 1939 began with the Baccalaureate service in the Adelynrood Chapel on Sunday, June 4, at three-thirty in the afternoon. The Reverend Wallace W. Anderson of the State Street Congregational Church of Portland, Maine, delivered the address. Afterward the seniors and their guests were entertained at tea on the Mansion House lawn.

The annual Senior Sing occurred on Thursday evening, June 8, on Sunset Hill. Edward Koenig, Editor of the MILESTONE announced the dedication of the yearbook to Mrs. Edward Williams Eames and presented her with the first copy. Loring Hubbell, President of the Senior Class, announced that the senior gift was to be a sum of money to be used in the development of Whipple Field. Later in the evening the seniors and then the underclassmen received their copies of the yearbook. A reception in the living room in the New Building concluded the evening.

The graduation exercises were held on Friday, June 9, President James Duncan Phillips of the Board of Trustees awarding their diplomas to the sixty-eight members of the graduating class. Dr. Alfred E. Stearns, Headmaster Emeritus of Phillips Academy at Andover gave the address; and Mr. Edward W. Eames made the award of prizes.

Then followed the exercises at the flagpole. The flag which had flown over the school during the year was taken down and awarded to George Moss Simson of Summit, New Jersey, the senior whose record in all respects met with the highest approval of the faculty. Then as the school sang America, the new flag annually donated by the Reverend Glenn Tilley Morse for the purpose was hoisted. The annual commencement concert of the Glee Club followed in the Lang Gymnasium.

Luncheon was served to the parents of the graduating class in the New Building; and a large number of other guests were served at the buffet luncheon on the lawn.

The annual Alumni Dinner in the evening saw a record attendance of about eleven hundred alumni and friends. Speakers were Mr. John P. Marquand, novelist, and Dr. Clarence Cook Little, Director of the Jackson Memorial Laboratory of Bar Harbor, Maine. Dr. Claude Moore Fuess, Headmaster of Phillips Academy, Andover, and a member of the Board of Trustees, acted as toastmaster.

THE GOODWIN ATHLETIC PRIZE — John Adam Koslowski

Presented by Mr. Fred H. Goodwin of the Class of 1916 for the best all-round athletic record of the year.

DALTON HAMOR PRIZE — John Adam Koslowski

Presented by the Class of 1921 for the best record in baseball.

TRACK PRIZE — Carleton Clark Young

Presented by Mr. Charles I. Somerby of the Class of 1912 to the member of the track team who has made the best record in track and field events.

SPECIAL PRIZES

Awarded through the generosity of Mr. Milton Dodge of Newburyport.

To Robert Taff Hurley, of Roslindale, because of his serious and successful application to study, because of his loyalty to the school, and because of his improvement as a boy and as a scholar.

To Lewis Brent Kuhnle, of Boxford, who is distinguished among the underclassmen and among the day students for his high scholastic record.

To John Phillips Burnham, of Pampanga, Philippine Islands, and Thomas Lester Killough, Jr., of Elizabeth, New Jersey, two seniors who in one year's residence, have learned to understand and appreciate the historical setting of the school as well as her purpose and ideals.

To John Henry Dyer, of Newburyport, and Joseph Wild Pearson, Jr., of Schenectady, New York, "two seniors deserving of special commendation for different reasons. One a day student, the other a boarding student, it is nevertheless fitting to award these two boys prizes together because their rivalry for the same position on the football team last fall resulted in their forming a close and worth-while friendship."

Acknowledgments

Every year there are friends of the MILESTONE who, although not definitely connected with the staff, yet make generous contributions to the success of the book. We wish particularly to acknowledge our indebtedness to

The Gannett Publishing Company of Portland, Maine, for the photograph from which our end papers are made
Mrs. Jane M. Gale for help in our accounting
Mrs. Edgar D. Dunning for hours of proofreading
Mr. Joseph Snyder for securing the majority of the advertisements
Mr. Harold Johnson of the Andover Press for relieving us of our worries
The patrons of the MILESTONE dance for pecuniary support
And our advertisers for making this book possible.

Compliments of Friends

Every year there are a number of advertisers in the MILESTONE who prefer to remain anonymous. This year the space on the advertising pages contracted for by those anonymous friends is to be used for a summary of the second-team games and minor-sports events not otherwise included in the yearbook. The editors are deeply grateful to the advertisers who have made it possible to represent those often-overlooked activities in the MILESTONE.

Minor Sports Diary

This year through the generosity of its advertisers The Milestone presents for the first time an account of the second-team games and intramural sports events which, for lack of space, can not be included in the athletic section of the yearbook but which nevertheless are an important part of the sports program of the school and in which in some seasons a majority of the students are engaged. Many of the players engaged in the second-team games listed here have gained experience and skill which will qualify them to represent the school in interscholastic games next year.

Two additional football teams and a junior soccer team played regular schedules during the fall term. The "A Squad" was a regular eleven-man football team coached by Mr. J. Chandler Hill and very ably led by Captain John Benting. The "B Squad," under the tutelage of Mr. Harold M. Curtiss of the faculty, introduced six-man football to Governor Dummer. Henry Skeele was the first captain of the new sport. Governor Dummer's first junior soccer team was coached by Mr. Oliver Andrews and captained by Robert Telzerow. The diary follows:

October 6: The A Squad opened its season with a 6-0 victory in a hard-fought game against the Haverhill freshmen.

October 13: The A Squad's victory over Hampton Academy, 13-0, provided much satisfaction to those members of the team who recalled the drubbing received at Hampton last year.

October 18: The first game of six-man football ever played at Governor Dummer resulted in an overwhelming defeat by the Ipswich freshmen, 26-0.

October 20: The A Squad suffered its first defeat of the season. Score: Ipswich Seconds 12; A Squad 0.

October 25: The B Squad showed real improvement but lost to the Andover freshmen, 7-0.

The Junior soccer team made its debut with a scoreless tie with an Andover club team.

November 1: The B Squad again lost to the hard-playing Ipswich freshmen, 26-6.

November 4: The A Squad scored first against a much heavier team from Bridgeton Academy; but as the game progressed Bridgeton's weight began to tell; and the visitors scored twice in the final period to take the decision, 14-6. Outweighed and outplayed, the A Squad continued to fight until the final whistle.

November 7: Mr. Curtiss was able to report the first victory for his B Squad, a 14-7 win from Emerson.

November 10: The A Squad seconds who went to the Beverly Junior High School expecting an ordinary game were surprised to find a band and a large crowd in attendance. Stage fright failed to prevent their making the first touchdown, but Beverly tied the score at six-all in the final quarter.

November 11: The A Squad was the headliner at Hampton Academy's Armistice Day celebration. Despite the enthusiasm of the Hampton stands, Mr. Hill's charges showed the improvement made during the season by doubling their score in the first game with Hampton and emerged with a 26-0 victory.

November 14: The B Squad evened their record of wins and losses by scoring a 19-13 victory over Nahant's six-man team.

November 17: The A Squad ended a successful season with an easy 26-7 victory over the Newburyport High School second team.

teams of an Eastern League. The two leagues had the use of the gymnasium on alternate days, and a final play-off was arranged with a steak dinner as a bonus to the winners.

Mr. Murphy's Penn. team got off to an auspicious start in the Eastern League by winning six straight games, but they were eventually beaten out by Mr. Barry's Yale aggregation, who earned the right to represent the league in the play-offs. In the Western League a three-cornered fight developed between Northwestern, Wisconsin, and Ohio State, with Mr. Hill's Ohio Staters finally emerging as the champions and going on to beat Mr. Barry's Yale team in the play-offs.

The steak-eating champions included Lee Whittles, Jack Miller, Charles McDowell, Phil Garfield, Herrick Randall, Joe Brady, Dick Rowe, and Dick Coffin.

SECOND BASKETBALL SQUAD FORMS INTRAMURAL LEAGUE

During the Winter Term the second basketball team, instead of playing a schedule of outside games, elected to organize an intramural basketball league. The new league made it possible to provide competition for twice the number of boys on last year's second squad. Moreover each boy was sure of playing in two or three games each week.

The squad was divided into six teams of seven boys each. Dwight Murray was chosen Captain of the Friars, Stan Whiting of the Hermits, John Benting of the Jesters, Dick Carnrick of the Knights, Ken Stein of the Monks, and Dick Coffin of the Yeomen. At the beginning of the season games were scheduled only on Tuesday and Thursday. To make possible three games each afternoon, the quarters had to be cut to six minutes; but so fast were the games that occasional time-outs were still necessary. On the other afternoons practice sessions were held under the guidance of Mr. Stone and Mr. Curtiss, each of whom coached three of the six teams.

The championship game brought together the Friars, who had led the league all the way, and the Hermits, who had reached the title bout by beating the Yeomen in the semifinals. At the end of the first quarter the Hermits were two points in the lead. However, by the end of the half the Friars had made up the difference and were in the lead, 12-10. Holding the Hermits scoreless in the third period, the Friars went on to win by an impressive margin, 28-16. Captain Dwight Murray of the Friars was supported by Carleton Greenwood, Nat Macdonald, Jim Quirk, Dave Solomon, and Ted Stitt. Charles McDowell, Bob Page, Bill Torrey, Ralph Cardozo, Gordon Pirie, and Captain Stan Whiting made up the Hermits. The winning team went to Boston for a steak dinner and then saw the Harvard-Penn basketball game.

Ken Stein of the Monks led the league in individual scoring with 81 points; John Benting was second with 76 for the Jesters; and Carleton Greenwood and Nat Macdonald each scored 60 for the Friars.

SECONDS WIN TWO CONTESTS AT ANDOVER AND AT TABOR

During the season a team of varsity substitutes played the two games scheduled for the second team, winning both by narrow margins. The first, with the Phillips Academy Junior Varsity, resulted in a 20-18 victory for the Governors; the second, a preliminary to the first team's game at Tabor, resulted in an 18-16 victory. Karl Klaussen's mid-court shot decided the Andover game in an overtime period.

TWO TRIPS TO MOUNTAINS PLEASE ACADEMY SKIERS

Growing enthusiasm for skiing on the part of the boys led, this year, to the organization of two trips to the White Mountains, as well as to considerable local activity on the golf course.

On January 20, Mr. Wickenden and Mr. Andrews took about twenty boys to Gilford, New Hampshire, for a full day's skiing. Perfect powdery snow, adequate tows, and many jumps and trails made the day a memorable one. On February 3, Mr. Heil and Mr. Andrews returned to Gilford with another large group of boys. Perfect conditions again prevailed, and the trip was highly enjoyable. One boy provided much amusement by falling out of the chair tow and disappearing in a huge drift, from which he emerged quite undaunted.

JUNIOR HOCKEY PLAYERS LOSE SERIES TO BROOKS

A second hockey squad, coached by Mr. Oliver Andrews, which played a series of three games with a Brooks School team and one with Emerson, was also active during the winter months. Three experienced players, Howard Hill in the goal, and David Johnson and Jack Hastings on defense, were the mainstays of the team. Herrick Randall, Arthur Wellman, and Dick Meriam made up one line; and Paul Titus, Henry Skeele, and Dick Manville made up another equally good.

The first game with the Brooks School team resulted in a 5-2 victory for the Governors; but Brooks took the other two, 2-3, and 1-2. In the Emerson School game the Governors were really outplayed and lost, 1-6.

WHIPPLE FIELD SEES HOT BASEBALL GAMES

The only second team engaged in competition during the Spring Term was Mr. Hill's Whipple Field nine. On May 8 that team lost the opener to the Newburyport High School junior varsity team by the close score of 7-5. Dick Manville pitched a fine game for the Governors.

In a return game with Newburyport in the following week Mr. Hill's team scored the first baseball victory of the Governor Dummer season. As in the preceding game, the Governors assumed an early lead and then saw it dwindle and vanish as the Newburyport pitchers became more effective. With the score tied in the last inning Rickey Ferguson beat out a scratch hit to reach first, stole second, and made third on an overthrow. John Nissen rolled a perfect bunt down the first-base line to squeeze Rickey home with the winning run.

After losing to the varsity nine, the seconds rolled up an impressive score against the Emerson team, beat the Brooks School Juniors, 2-0, and the Andover Junior Club team 12-0. In the Andover game Henry Skeele made history by pitching a no-hit game.
